Holiday Parade a Great Success!

- Ursula Syrova

The Lakewood Village annual Holiday Parade took place as planned on December 6th. Showers were forecast for that day, and all involved worried about the parade being canceled, as it was the previous December, but we were spared the stormy conditions of 2002. From the Fremont Union High School Marching Band in front to Santa on the big rig wrecker bringing up the rear, it was a wonderful show of volunteer support from our community and a lot of fun too. Spectators lined the route and sweets piled up in the streets as candy-tossing participants cruised by. The Sunnyvale Amateur Radio Emergency Service provided great support, helping organize participants at the beginning and providing communication between the different parts of the parade. This local group uses ham radios and trains to provide auxiliary communication with the city in case of an emergency. Volunteering to provide communications support for our parade is one way they train, to our benefit!

The Lakewood Village Neighborhood Association thanks all the participants who volunteered their time and good natures to make the parade such a success:

Our Lighting Contest is one of four in the Bay Area listed in a new book

"Holiday Lights: Beautiful Displays to Inspire Your Christmas Celebration" is a fun new book by David Seidman. Its pages contain photos and descriptions of some of the most amazing holiday lighting displays around the country and the world, and has tips and techniques for creating your own displays. It also lists places to see holiday lights in dozens of cities and regions. In the Bay Area, only four places are listed:

- Fremont: Cripps Place
- Monte Sereno: Danielle Place
- Palo Alto: Laguna Avenue
- Sunnyvale: Lakewood Village

Congratulations, Lakewood Village! Details on http://www.lvna.net/Resources/Reading_List/reading_list.html

This Month in Lakewood History...

- Brian Smithson

46 years ago: In 1958, the Lakewood Village Resident's Association (LVRA) was formed. The LVRA is the predecessor to today's LVNA.

44 years ago: In 1960, the "Grog and Vittle Shoppe" opened. This establishment later became the "Lakewood Lounge" and continued in business under that name for some 40 years.

35 years ago: In 1969, at the request of the LVRA, 4-way stop signs were finally installed at intersections near Lakewood Village's schools.

16 years ago: In 1988, Sunnyvale launched its Neighborhood Preservation Program, amid some controversy, initially targeting four neighborhoods: Raynor Park, Orchard Gardens, Morse Madrone, and Lakewood Village.

7 years ago: In 1997, the City of Sunnyvale approved plans for renovations of Dick's Lakewood Shopping Center.

Are you a long-time resident of Lakewood Village? Do you have old photographs, real state brochures, newspaper clippings, or old LVRA/LVNA newsletters sitting in your garage? I'll copy items and return the originals. Call 738-5939 or email editor@lvna.net. ■

Homeless or a Choice

- Craig Crawford

I was perplexed by a story last month about the homeless and how the author was feeling sorry that they did not have a home and then blaming everyone else for the homelessness' problem. You make choices in this life and where and how you live are some of them. Most of the homeless are there because of choices made in life. And I resent having to pay for bad choices made by others. What makes you think that they even want a house with the payments, upkeep costs and headaches associated with it? Anyone that is homeless can find a bed and food until they get on their feet. We have a hardcore homeless population that doesn't want the traditional American dream, they want to live their way and God love them if that's the way they want life. There is no need to have guilt for working hard and providing for a family and having a nice place to live. The same opportunities were available to them. That's the great thing about America; we all start with an even playing field, its what you do with it that separates us. The next time you see someone with a homeless problem invite them into your house or give them a ride to a shelter but don't expect my tax dollars to support them. ■

Guitar Bum

- Craig Crawford

I am not surprised the guitar bum at 7-11 had his instrument stolen. Maybe if he had not left it where he sits on the sidewalk by 7-11 and was not in the bar drinking up what you gave him for playing or relieving himself behind the building his guitar would not have been stolen. I for one don't appreciate one more bum hanging out at 7-11 requesting that we support his habits. My kids and wife have told me they feel uncomfortable going to 7-11 when he's there due to his stares and comments if you don't pitch into his hat for his getting drunk fund. I have seen this same bum at the 101 off ramp flailing his arms and coming up to cars requesting money. He seems to have all his arms and legs, the last time I checked this qualified you for most jobs. Maybe the people of Lakewood have such a soft touch that being a bum pays well. If you have concerns then call public safety 730-7110 and tell them so. ■

A cynical look at the informant culture of today

- James Daugherty

Jeff watched closely as the kid in front of him slips a candy bar into his back pocket and leaves the store. "I know him" he thinks to himself. "I've seen him at school". Jeff doesn't say anything to the store clerk. This person is important to Jeff for another reason.

Jeff arrives at home and immediately gets on his home computer, enters a password, and accesses his desktop. He clicks "Start", "Documents". He finds the file he wants, enters another password, and opens a file called "chips".

"Chips" is Jeff's investment file for a new car, college, or his someday fun money. Jeff calls this file "chips" because it is his personal database of people profiles he hopes to cash in on some day. Just like a poker chip. He holds people's lives in his file like poker chips and will some day cash them in. Jeff is an informant.

As Jeff builds his file on different people he interacts with, he concentrates on characteristics of these people, such as do they steal, don't use seat belts when they drive, do they speed, do their parents argue, etc. Jeff is looking for characteristics that may indicate in these persons their likelihood of becoming law breakers some day and he wants to be there to turn them in for an award.

Jeff smiles. "Number twenty just got on my list" he thinks, "maybe I'll be getting my new wheels a year earlier than I expected." Jeff saves the file and signs off. Mr. McGregor looks most promising. He hit his wife twice this month, came home drunk three times, and gets a disability check in the mace one a month. Jeff mumbles to himself that he'll have to go through McGregor's garbage again soon and see if he can fill in some missing account numbers. He looks like he might be living beyond his means, judging from the clothes he wears and the new car every other year.

A few days later, Jeff's house is hit by the local police and the DEA. Several marijuana plants were found in his backyard behind the garage and child porn was found on his personal computer. Jeff and his parents swear they didn't know about the porn, nor did they know about the plants behind the garage. Jeff's parents were arrested and charged with multiple felonies. They cut a deal with the DAZ that if he did not charge Jeff with any crimes, they would plead guilty.

Jeff, being only 17, went to live with relatives four hundred miles away, and Mom and Dad got five years each. The Department of Justice under asset forfeiture laws took his parents' house, cars, bank account, and household furniture.

You see, the community was watching Jeff too. They hacked his computer, and planted the marijuana. This community got to buy themselves a lot of new things a year earlier than they anticipated from the award money they got by turning in Jeff and his family.

The next month the community had a block party and invited the new owners of Jeff's used-to-be house, and their family to it. This new family has a 17-year-old son who also likes computers.

Dear readers: does this scenario bother you? It should. Attorney General John Ashcroft requested, under the Patriot Act following 9/11/01, a program of neighbor spying on neighbor called TIPS. Luckily, it was soundly rejected by Congress. ■

New Curves Helps Lakewood Ladies Get in Shape

- Mar Junge

Ladies, if your New Year's Resolution is to lose weight and get healthy, check out the new Curves on Lawrence Expressway (before Arques, in the shopping center after McDonalds). Curves isn't like other gyms. The program combines cardiovascular and strength training on hydraulic workout equipment designed especially for women. The equipment and step platforms are arranged in a big circle. You never have to wait for a machine because you spend only 30 seconds at each station before the music cues you to move to the next — it's kind of like a big game of musical chairs and you can be in and out of there in less than 45 minutes!

While you're exercising, you can talk to other women who are struggling to take off those extra holiday pounds, share ideas for low-cal meals, or just have someone who's willing to listen to what's going on in your life and tell you about theirs. I've made so many friends (and lost pounds and inches) since I started working out at the Curves on El Camino in Sunnyvale. And with all the Curves special activities, there's always something to look forward to. For example, in October Curves had a costume contest and in December we watched proudly as our toy donations piled up under the Christmas tree.

Best of all, now with a new Curves right down the street I won't have to drive 20 minutes into town three times a week to work out. If you want to join me at the new Curves sometime, email me (Mar) at mar@c3pr.com or call me at 408-730-8506 and I'll let you know when I'm going that week. Soon Lakewood's going to have the fittest women in Sunnyvale! ■

Lakewood Pony Baseball

- Scott Noel

It's cold, wet and dreary outside... but if you LOVE the game of baseball, you are already thinking of spring training, practices and who's going to hit it big this year.

Lakewood has its very own league of future Hall-of-Famers for kids ages five and older: Lakewood Pony Baseball. Our league is an instructional league that focuses on fun and learning for the kids. We have teams forming now for all age groups. Kids from all over Sunnyvale come to play the game, learn the basics, build social and sports skills and HAVE A GREAT TIME.

In addition to playing ball, we do lots of other fun activities, like our annual trip to an A's game where the kids get to go on the real ball field and our Closing Ceremonies celebration that always ends in a HUGE water balloon battle.

Check out the flyer included and contact LPB if you have any questions. PLAY BALL! ■

You Could Grow Up to be President!

- Editor

At the March meeting, we'll be electing new officers for the LVNA. Nominations take place at the February meeting. This means that now is the time to think about whether you would like to participate in the future of your neighborhood by becoming an officer of the LVNA. Yes, you.

The LVNA is the best known and most active neighborhood association in Sunnyvale. It is over ten years old, and its predecessor, the Lakewood Village Resident's Association, was founded way back in 1958 — just a few years after the neighborhood was originally constructed! Among the accomplishments of our neighborhood associations has been getting a fire station built on our side of 101, challenging zoning and commercial proposals that would have had an adverse effect on the quality of life in Lakewood Village, establishing a successful neighborhood improvement partnership with the City, and keeping neighborhood traffic issues in front of the City Council.

You can become part of this vital and important organization, serve your community, and gain the experience and satisfaction that comes from helping shape the future of this rich and diverse neighborhood. Some of our previous officers have gone on to hold elected and appointed positions in the City government and school district, up to and including Mayor!

So why not consider 2004 to be the year you get involved in the LVNA? Contact any of the current officers and ask them what they do for the LVNA and what they get out of it for themselves:

Teens CRASH with Live Bands on January 30th

- Melissa Junge

Hey teens, come hang out at THE CRASH, the best new live music venue for high school teens in the Bay Area. Our first Crash for this year is Friday, January 30th. Admission is $3 for Sunnyvale residents or teens with an ASB Card from Fremont, Homestead, Kings Academy, Wilcox, or St. Francis High Schools.

Check out pics of past Crashes at <http://www.thecrashinsunnyvale.com>.

The Crash is put together by the City of Sunnyvale Teen Advisory Council and the City of Sunnyvale Parks & Recreation Department. It's a program developed by teens for teens, so it's pretty cool. We're also having a Snowboarding Trip on Saturday the 24th. If you want more info or know of a band that's interested in performing, contact Amalia Castelino at (408) 730-7741 or acastelino@ci.sunnyvale.ca.us ■
